

Learning Station

Refreshable Braille Displays

Braille displays come in different shapes and sizes, but most need a screen reader (VoiceOver, NDVA, Jaws for Windows) to function for a student with visual impairments.

Identify the features on these Braille displays and which display or displays do not necessarily need a screen reader. Consider going to YouTube to help gather this information then update your Study Guide.

<https://youtu.be/kPjDcL4FQTs>

If your student struggled with one display, how would another display be better?